Faculty Disclosure

It is the policy of the DPC Summit Co-Organizers that all individuals in a position to control content disclose any relationships with commercial interests upon nomination/invitation of participation. Disclosure documents are reviewed for potential conflict of interest (COI), and if identified, conflicts are resolved prior to confirmation of participation. Only those participants who had no conflict of interest or who agreed to an identified resolution process prior to their participation were involved in this CME activity.

All faculty in a position to control content for this session have indicated they have no relevant financial relationships to disclose.

The content of this material/presentation in this CME activity will not include discussion of unapproved or investigational uses of products or devices.

Learning Objectives

By the end of this educational activity, participants should be better able to:

- Describe the strengths and challenges of different models of DPC.
- Plan how to supplement revenue when growing a DPC practice through telemedicine and other clinical options.

- Very Impressed! I have been looking for this type of care for a long time. Doctor Chisholm's hands-on care is wonderful. I can't believe I can call my doctor on the phone and she will personally answer the call! She is very thorough and I feel very confident about the great quality of care that Dr. Chisholm provides.

The care we...received...has been amazing! Signing up...was...the best health decision we...ever made for our family...(R)ecently, Dr. Ryan has gone above and beyond to support us during a very difficult health crisis; her expertise, follow-up, and ongoing support kept us both grounded and positive during a challenging experience...The "direct primary care" movement is the health care model of the future. We have not only saved money using this model, but the level of care, medical support, and service...are about 10X greater than we previously had...!

- Dr. Price has given our family such peace of mind when it comes to the healthcare options for our family. With two young, active boys having a pediatrician that is always available to us and accommodating with our schedule is a total game changer. What's best is that Dr. Price advocates for the health and wellbeing of our entire family in all circumstances. She's a blessing to our family and the community!
