

Direct Primary Care Summit

2016 Direct Primary Care Summit

Exhibitor and Sponsor Prospectus

What is the DPC Summit?

The goal of the Direct Primary Care Summit 2016 is to continue advancing the growing awareness and adoption of the direct primary care (DPC) model of care delivery and payment as a meaningful alternative to the fee-for-service (FFS) payment paradigm.

The fourth annual DPC Summit builds upon the success of the prior conferences to help foster a broad-based DPC movement as the model garners continued attention among primary care physicians, policy makers, employers, and commercial insurance carriers alike.

Attendee Profile

The DPC Summit organizers project a total of 250-300 attendees for the 2016 DPC Summit. The event agenda has been developed to meet the needs of a core audience of physicians interested in taking practical, immediate next steps in establishing their DPC practices.

The 2015 Summit attendees were predominantly physicians (69.8%), either in the process of transitioning into a DPC setting (35.2%) or participating to get more information on this innovative model of care delivery (47.3%).
